

SCHOOL COUNCIL 101

What is Mary Johnston's School Council?

Mary Johnston's School Council is made up of a maximum of 10-12 parent/guardian voting members and the school principal as well as teacher and support staff representatives. The Council meets monthly during the school year. The meetings provide the opportunity to share information and provide parent input to school, School Board and Ministry of Education programs and plans. All Mary Johnston parents are welcome and encouraged to attend meetings. Community members, including parents of children who will be attending Mary Johnston in the future, are also welcome at all meetings. Child care is provided for your children while you attend the meetings.

Members of the Council invite involvement from all parents and guardians of children at Mary Johnston. Such involvement might mean attending some or all of the meetings, helping out with a fund-raising event, joining a committee or simply reviewing the meeting agendas and minutes and providing some feedback where appropriate. Involvement need not be a major time commitment and can occur at any time throughout the school year. If you check our Mary Johnston website mjp.wrdsb.ca, you will see a tab titled "Volunteer at MJ". Under this tab, there are descriptions of the different areas that volunteer look after.

What does Mary Johnston's School Council spend its money on?

Each year the way in which Council's money is spent varies. In the past, council purchased new mats for the gym, bike and scooter racks, supported busing for the school musical, STEAM Fair, Character Development, Nutrition for Learning and subsidized field trips for all students. Council also pays for such things as home reading and special education materials, and helped bring in visiting artists or performers.
