

HOME AND SCHOOL COMMUNICATION

Our teachers and staff use a collegial approach to enhance learning and respond to changing times. We promote strong parental involvement and support because we feel this partnership will help to improve student learning and school success. By working together, our children can become confident members of society who think clearly, feel deeply and act wisely.

If you have a question or concern, you are welcome to call your child's teacher. If you would like to meet with your child's teacher and/or another staff member, we ask that you call the school and arrange a mutually agreeable time to meet. We respectfully request that you do not just drop in on a teacher at the beginning of the school day as students are entering the school. With twenty or more students coming into their classroom at the sound of the bell, teachers simply do not have time focus on your request. You are welcome to visit our classrooms, but please make arrangements in advance. Thank you for your assistance with this practice.

We also encourage parents to volunteer within our school. There are many volunteer opportunities within your child's classroom and throughout the school. A Volunteer form will be sent home for you to complete.
