

Grade 11 Course Selection for Grade 12 English

Currently in ENG3CI, College English

-> Required Course:

1. ENG4CI, College English

This is a college preparation course with an emphasis on business, report and media writing. Research and presentation skills are also emphasized. The units of study are business communication, oral communication, opinion writing and media study.

- OR -

2. ENG4EI, Workplace English

This course builds on the skills developed in ENG3E and prepares students to enter directly into the workplace.

-> Optional Course:

EWC 4CI, The Writer's Craft

This course is for students looking for an opportunity to learn about writing in an open, encouraging environment. In this course students examine, analyze and practice a wide variety of methods and styles of writing. Students are encouraged to be creative and express themselves in class discussion and in their writing. Subjects covered include news/magazine articles/columns, poetry, short stories, autobiographies, children's literature, interviews/profiles, travel writing, reviews, and editorials. A course requirement is for students to create their own blog and make weekly postings. Students develop a portfolio of work as their culminating project, and explore publishing opportunities and writing contests.

Currently in ENG3UI, University English - OR - ENB3UI, University English – Contemporary Aboriginal Voices

-> Required Course:

1. ENG4CI, College English

This is a college preparation course with an emphasis on business, report and media writing. Research and presentation skills are also emphasized. The units of study are business communication, oral communication, opinion writing and media study.

- OR -

2. ENG4UI, University English

This is a university preparation course with an emphasis on formal, academic research, writing, and presentation skills. Shakespearean drama, prose essays, novel study and a major ISU project are the units of study.

-> Optional Course:

EWC 4UI, The Writer's Craft

This course is for students looking for an opportunity to learn about writing in an open, encouraging environment. In this course students examine, analyze and practice a wide variety of methods and styles of writing. Students are encouraged to be creative and express themselves in class discussion and in their writing. Subjects covered include news/magazine articles/columns, poetry, short stories, autobiographies, children's literature, interviews/profiles, travel writing, reviews, and editorials. A course requirement is for students to create their own blog and make weekly postings. Students develop a portfolio of work as their culminating project, and explore publishing opportunities and writing contests.

Currently in ENG3EI, Essential English

-> Required Course:

ENG4EI, Workplace English

This course builds on the skills developed in ENG3E and prepares students to enter directly into the workplace.